MRS. EDDY MUST GO TO COURT

Lawyers in Christian Science Suit Plan to Force Her to Appear Publicly.

Mrs. Mary Baker G. Eddy will be served tomorrow with a notice requiring her to appear in person before a magistrate and make a deposition in connection with the suit that has been brought against her and those who surround her in the conduct of the business of the Christian Science church, according to dispatches in the BOSTON AMERICAN today from Concord, N. H. The papers in the case were filed this morning.

This statement came from lawyers Martin and Howe of attorneys for the petitioners in the receivership proceedings, who declared that the same order of notice would be served at the same time on the New Hampshire respondents, Messrs. Tomlinson, Hering, Frye and Strong.

The defendants outside of New Hampshire who will be served with notice are: Alfred Farlow of Boston, publicity agent of the Christian Science Church; Joseph Armstrong, manager and publisher of the Christian Science Journal; Ira O. Kemp of Boston, trustee; Stephen A. Chase of Fall River, treasurer of the church; William B. Johnson, clerk of the society of the First Church of Christ (Scientists), Boston; and several others.

Many Ominous Warnings Sent New York District Attorney From Partisans Both of the Guilt and Innocence of the Slayer of Stanford White.

By Boston American Leased Wire.
NEW YORK, March 7.—A decided sensation in connection with the trial of Harry K. Thaw for the murder of Stanford White was caused today when it was learned that District Attorney Jerome, who is prosecuting the case, has received many letters that threaten a violent death for him, no matter how the remarkable case terminates.

The letters come from all parts of the country and, while the District Attorney is disposed to believe that they are the work of cranks, he is taking care that he may not fall in the hands of any person of that character.

THREATENED DEATH BY BOMB.
In some of the letters Jerome is warned that death will be his portion if a hair of the head of Thaw is hurt. In other letters it is declared that if he allows Thaw to escape he will be blown to pieces. In one letter he is told that death by burning oil is not too good for a prosecutor who cannot get a conviction in this case.

An amiable person in Allentown, Pa., for instance, wrote to the District Attorney as follows:

William Travers Jerome.
Beware! Here on hair of Harry Thaw's head and you are a good man! (Signed) VENGEANCE.

A hostile note came from the Northwest and read to this effect:

Madison, Wis., March 1, 1907.
District Attorney Jerome:
You are prosecuting an innocent man and you are a good man, but you are not doing it in your effort to send him to the electric chair for trying to steal the house of his wife. If he is convicted you and his sons, for we shall see to it that you are blown to atoms.

There was reassurance and an apparent desire for the square deal in a note from Chicago. It read:
If you permit Harry Thaw to escape the death it will be to show you are not to hold your present position, and you will be removed in the only way befitting the occasion—a bomb that will not leave a trace upon your ill death.
J. T. J.

Washington, N. J., contributed this piece of poetry:

Charles Harry Thaw and your days are numbered and few. COUPIDE.
Salem, Ohio, took a more cheerful view of the situation from the viewpoint of the contributor to contemporaneous literature from that section. This gentleman wrote:

If you permit that miserable wretch, Harry Thaw, to escape, a swift, certain and absolute death for you is certain. THE END.

Albany, N. Y., wrote the following scathing suggestion:

Had Thaw's lawyers thought best they might have shown strong evidence of hereditary epilepsy that would have been on the stand, but that might have smoothed the way to the asylum.

MRS. THAW IS ILL AFTER HER ORDEAL

NEW YORK, March 7.—Mrs. Mary Conley Thaw, the wealthy mother of Harry K. Thaw, as the result of her ordeal on the witness stand yesterday at the trial of her son for the murder of Stanford White, suffered today from a nervous breakdown, and is unable to leave her room, according to the members of her family at the Hotel Lorraine.

When the trial resumed tomorrow morning, it will be the second time that Mrs. Thaw will be called to testify in the case. She is expected to be in a better state of mind at the trial than she was at the first.

Mrs. Thaw expressed her disappointment over the fact that her lawyers refused to allow her to tell of so-called premeditated murder and to correct impressions regarding the Thaw family which have gained wide currency in the city.

Many of those who consider in the nature of Thaw, and indeed she is the only witness who will issue a statement in the proceedings, Jerome tried to get a copy of this circular yesterday, but Mr. Delmas said he had not received it as yet.

DELMAS'S MASTER STROKE.
About the criminal course following the trial was about Delmas's master stroke in presenting the evidence of Mrs. Thaw from going into her family history so far as insanity is concerned, thus preventing Jerome from getting ground for a lunacy commitment.

Mrs. Thaw expressed her disappointment over the fact that her lawyers refused to allow her to tell of so-called premeditated murder and to correct impressions regarding the Thaw family which have gained wide currency in the city.

Many of those who consider in the nature of Thaw, and indeed she is the only witness who will issue a statement in the proceedings, Jerome tried to get a copy which she will endeavor to set herself and her sons and daughters right in the eyes of the world.

In the telling out of the evidence of Mrs. Thaw's mother for the defendant's place and interpretation of the sort that would most incite the sort that would send Thaw to Matamoras will play no further part in the trial.

BAR WAY TO ASYLUM.
From the very first Thaw has declared that he preferred taking chances with a jury than with a lunacy committee. He has declared time and time again that he preferred death in Sing Sing to commitment to Matamoras and he has won his lawyers to his way of thinking.

Had Thaw's lawyers thought best they might have shown strong evidence of hereditary epilepsy that would have been on the stand, but that might have smoothed the way to the asylum.

There was no session of the court today owing to the death of a brother-in-law of Justice Fitzgerald. This is the second time the trial has been interrupted for similar reasons.

STROTHERS BOYS SAVED BY "UNWRITTEN LAW"

By Boston American Leased Wire.
CLEVELAND, Pa., March 7.—James and Philip Strothers were acquitted this morning of the murder of their brother-in-law, William P. Bryant, the jury being out on the jury at 11:15 o'clock. The verdict was returned at 11:15 o'clock. The defense was based primarily on the fact that the boys were under the age of 18 and were not legally responsible for the crime.

TO ENTER NEW YORK.
ALBANY, N. Y., March 7.—The Travelers' Industry Company of Hartford, Ct., has been allowed to transact business in New York State.

MRS. WILLIAM THAW AS WITNESS
Drawn for the American by Casey
"She did not look stylish, or millionairess, or anything but just what she was—a loving, tender, troubled old mother, willing to flay herself alive, if it would do any good to her son."
—Doubtless. Her description of Mrs. Thaw on the witness stand.

Does It Pay to Be Always Seeing the Funny Side of Life?

By Beatrice Fairfax

MAN, as a whole, is considered to be a creature of humor. In fact, he lacks appreciation of the fun in a situation and just about the only fun he gets is from the jokes of others.

They write funny stories about him and get paid large prices for jokes in comic papers. And all because he is a creature of humor and does not see the funny side of life.

The real truth of the matter is that men don't want women to have a sense of humor. They are afraid of the woman who is very quick to see a joke.

They feel that as she is so quick to see the ridiculous side of things, she will be equally quick to see the ridiculous side of them, and that no man can stand.

Believe me, who so thoroughly understood mankind, prayed "God, make my enemies ridiculous." God, make my enemies ridiculous. He has made them so.

A keen sense of humor makes life much easier for the person who possesses it, but in the case of a woman there is great danger of sacrificing her femininity at the altar of her humor.

The Better Way. It is better for a woman to be sympathetic than humorous.

The person with a very keen sense of humor is apt to laugh in the wrong place, and is constantly hurting the

FEATURING SPRING GOWNS IN ABUNDANT USE OF LACE

No Limit to Use of Imitation Or Real on Spring or Summer Dresses

THIS season's fad bids fair to be lace. Lucky the woman who has her treasure box of bits into which to devote for odds and ends. She will find abundant use for all.

Real lace is more than fashionable, while the new imitations to meet the demand are wonderful in variety, fineness and beauty. When real lace is employed it must be used with discretion, for Dame Fashion has set no limit to the amount that may be put on a single gown.

Lace will be seen in cuffs, collars, ties, labets, lace ends, applique on net, chiffon, and even silk gowns.

The woman who does not care to be led astray by her dressmaker must study lace this season as never before. A knowledge of lace is almost indispensable for the coming spring and summer, and the more complete the better.

Too gowns are so pleasantly trimmed with quantities of lace that it has become, in the richer gowns, the most important part of the material.

In lingerie and linen gowns the advance models that are now shown for the Southern States are even more indicative that lace is to be used in even more reckless profusion than last year.

Nothing takes the place, and consequently new designs and patterns are continually being brought forward as trimmings for all materials, while the combining of two or more laces in the one gown is the fashionable custom.

Most charming gown of pale pink chiffon, with center-rose, Valenciennes has a deep yoke of Irish point. This yoke forms the lower part of the gown being the most delicate and fancy pieces of embroidery and lace.

The accompanying model, a recent Paris import, is a gown of black tulle, with a wide band of white lace, the belt is of white satin to add to the contrast.

Mental Malaria--- Its Cause and the Way to Remedy It

By Ella Wheeler Wilcox

Talk faith. The world is better off without Your uttered ignorance and morbid doubt.

If you have faith in God, or man, or self. Say not, if not, push back upon the shelf.

Of all the things that fill the mind Of all the things that fill the mind Of all the things that fill the mind

No one will grieve because your lips are dumb. No one will grieve because your lips are dumb. No one will grieve because your lips are dumb.

For long ago I read the following gloomy tale of pessimism from the pen of a man bright enough to know better than to be a mental malarial.

He said: Life is a gloomy battle in which we are doomed to defeat. And the gloom is not a gloom, but a gloom. And the gloom is not a gloom, but a gloom.

Unpardonable Sin But it is a sin to be a pessimist. It is a sin to be a pessimist. It is a sin to be a pessimist.

When the man with brains does not, he should be ashamed to look like a fool. When the man with brains does not, he should be ashamed to look like a fool.

How to Bathe for Health and Beauty

It is fashionable to be healthy. And, as a result, the woman who keeps company with a canny doctor and a good nurse, is no longer popular outside of her own circle.

Even if she is healthy, and the girl who even achieves belatedness is not one of the unadorned beauties, fitting away type?

The modern woman accepts the notion that a pretty woman is all the prettier if she is healthy, and that the most valuable assets of the plain woman are health, with confidence, almost with eagerness, and place her beauty and health on a par.

As a rule the best effects of many other parts of her body, the health of her mind, her health is interesting and healthy woman. This discovery was all the more so.

Will Squires Meet Johnson

BY W. W. NAUGHTON.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 7.—A story is getting to-day purporting to be a graphic dispatch from a correspondent in New York to the effect that Bill Squires has postponed his trip to the United States and has signed to box Jack Johnson in Australia for a purse of $20,000. With nothing but my imagination to guide me in the matter, I have no hesitation in saying that the information supplied by New York is bogus.

PRUITT

The message does not read as it had been made by the writer and several facts which a few days ago Squires referred relative the boxing match would be in Australia for a class on March 11, and if there any change in Squires's plan, he will make it known.

It may be said that Squires may not be in the United States, but the New York dispatch is not true and is not to be taken as is and so decided to make the public.

Thomas a slight, almost inconsiderable favorite. The backers of the New England fighter figured that he had improved many pounds since the time he gave away weight to the Coast slinger and lost, and the fact that it was only a six-round affair, also helped to make the betting close. Those who backed Thomas were mostly despisers, who figured that a man who has beaten his opponent once can do it again.

Special trains from New York brought a hundred fanatics from the "Great White Way" to the arena. They came again to Honey's eye and the latter shot both hands hard to the jaw. Melindy put a heavy right on Joe's heart, knocking him down three times with a short right. Honey's mouth and drove a hot left to the wind. They exchanged rights in the face at the belt. of standing room was at a prohibitive premium. A large force of police, in the face of a large crowd, was ordered to keep the crowd in order, and several times threatened to shut the doors.

Thomas was the first to enter the hall. His seconds were Harry Foley, Tommy West and Johnny Lofley. Melody came with Smith and hooked up the same hand in Foley's eye. He was doing badly the latter boxing. Again he sent his left leg to the face and they were over.

Thomas failed to the nose again, and then, as Melody came back, crossed his right to the jaw. Thomas was

WHY DOES
COLE DELAY?

Mr. Burton was sent to jail for acting as attorney in a matter which was pending before a Federal department in Washington at the same time that he was acting as United States Senator.

John N. Cole, Speaker of the House of Representatives in Massachusetts, is carrying out a profitable contract with the United Shoe Machinery Company while that company is vitally interested in legislation at this session of the General Court.

Mr. Cole has not yet asked for an investigation of the circumstances under which that contract was awarded to him.

This Is Not a Fairy Dream

It Is a Story of FACT from Copenhagen

Corporations that rob the American people subsidize a few weak-kneed newspapers, which obediently lie about municipal ownership. They hire "testimonials" who repeat the carefully prepared falsehoods.

It ought not to be necessary to tell intelligent men that it is better for the people to own their street railways and their gas companies than to have private individuals own them and rob the people.

We give you to-day some more FACTS and hope that you will use them with any friends whom the corporation interests may have deceived with their falsehoods.

These FACTS are not to be questioned. They are matters of record, taken from the consular report just published, and supplied by United States Minister T. J. O'Brien, who represents us in Copenhagen.

The city of Copenhagen is content for the present to CONTROL its street railways for the public benefit. This is what municipal control does and what the people get:

The fare charged to the public is TWO AND ONE-HALF CENTS. And transfers are compulsory everywhere.

The company pays to the city treasury six per cent. of its gross receipts.

It must keep the streets paved between its tracks and two feet outside the rails.

The city of Copenhagen reserves the privilege of supplying the roads with electric power at an agreed price, AND ON THIS THE CITY MAKES A PROFIT OF $187,600 PER YEAR.

The charter ends IN FORTY YEARS, and then the entire property goes to the city free of charge and free of incumbrance.

That isn't all.

The company must PROVIDE THE CLOTHING FOR MOTORMEN AND CONDUCTORS AT THE COMPANY'S EXPENSE.

Employees are allowed one day of rest in six. WITH PAY for that day, and in addition six holidays with pay every year.

That isn't all either.

Men that have worked twenty-five years for the company are entitled to a pension at the end of that time. And for the rest of their lives THE COMPANY MUST PAY THEM TWO-THIRDS OF THEIR WAGES.

In case an employee is taken ill, for any cause whatever, he has full pay for six weeks and half pay for six weeks more. And the period of his illness is reckoned as working time as regards his pension.

The above rule is in case the employee gets sick on his own account. APART FROM HIS WORK. If he contracts his illness in the service of the company, HE RECEIVES FULL WAGES UNTIL HIS RECOVERY.

In case a man is injured in an accident in the course of his work, he receives his full wages until the cause of the accident is settled or until he recovers. If he is permanently injured, the workman gets a LIFE PENSION of two-thirds of his average pay for the five years preceding the injury.

This queer city of Copenhagen compels the street car company to provide for a widow's pension amounting to one-eighth of her husband's salary. If the husband is killed in an accident, the widow must be paid at once $550.

And even that isn't all. NO PERSONS ARE ALLOWED INSIDE A CAR EXCEPT THOSE WHO CAN BE COMFORTABLY SEATED.

Can you imagine the way the BOSTON ELEVATED and all the other exploiters of the public would yell and roar if they were told, first, to cut their fare in two; second, to pay employees in time of sickness; third, to give pensions to widows; fourth, to pension all men after twenty-five years; fifth, to buy their electric power from the city at a profit to the city; sixth, to give every passenger a seat; seventh, to give the entire concern over to the city at the end of forty years?

Of course, if they did these things, it would be unpleasant for the EXPLOITERS.

But wouldn't the PUBLIC be BETTER off?

American business men of the Traction Trust type will tell you that such things as we have outlined above are IMPOSSIBLE.

But they are not impossible. That street car company in Copenhagen paid a six per cent. dividend in 1905, and in 1906 showed an increase in the revenue of 84 per cent. over the preceding year.

And the company has a compulsory sinking fund sufficient to pay its indebtedness at the expiration of the forty-year term and at least par value on the capital stock. There is no WATER in that stock.

Readers, that is what municipal ownership, or absolute municipal control of municipal monopolies, means.

If the people of a great American city had brains enough to run their gas company on that basis, illuminating gas would sell for four cents a thousand instead of a dollar. Fuel gas would sell for twenty-five cents a thousand or less, making it less than half the present cost of coal for heating purposes.

The public wouldn't be poisoned with cheap gas. Employees would be better paid than now, with provisions for pensions and other provisions to which decent men are entitled.

It is true that we would not have gas kings or street railway kings piling up their hundreds of millions to corrupt public officials to-day and supply the public with Thaw trials in the future when the money is handed down to their children.

But we should have better conditions for all the people, workmen and consumers.

When you hear people talking against municipal ownership, just quote to them these figures taken from the United States government consular reports. They outweigh a good many lies published in cheap little newspapers to oblige the gentlemen of the exploiter type, who have money to lend on mortgage or tips on the stock market to give in exchange for servile editorials.

"What a slight that woman looks, sniggering about on the sidewalk! Any one would think she'd been detrited. Maybe she has, too; it isn't so slippery today!"

"Oh-ho-ho! Mercy! Oh-ho-ho! (Thump-thump!) Out!"

"I'm killed! I'm killed. These streets are the slugs."

"Etel! You unnatural child! Are you laughing at your own mother? Yes, you are, now; don't you dare to deny it—you're sniggering, you little scoundrel!"

"Come and help me to get up my pulch. Never mind Baby; put him down in the snow there. Pull now, pull. Oh, I'm glad to be over that street. It's an outrage the way the city leaves the crossings."

"Now I've got you, you little imp! Take that for laughing at your mother. (Guff! Ziff!) Now run back to Baby."

"Oh, how do, Miss Ojus. Isn't it an awful day—tee-hee!"

"Excuse me—tee-hee—for laughing, but you look so funny—tee-hee—with that snow on your ear. What's that? My Harold threw the snowball?"

"Well, what if he did, the boy must have some play. I'm sure he didn't mean it to hit you."

"What! He threw it at me? Harold, come here instantly! It's an outrage the way these boys throw snowballs. But you looked so funny, Mrs. Ojus—all that snow in your ear and down your neck—tee-hee!—and you trying to scrape it off with a muff. You shouldn't get mad; don't give the children such a lot of fun, does it not? I think snowballing's good—cough! cough!—no-no-no!"

"Harold! Harold!! HAROLD!!!"

"Here at once—oh, you—you—you—I don't know what you are. Wait till I catch you—I'll make you sorry you ever threw a snowball. (Guff—guff!) My mouth's full of snow!"

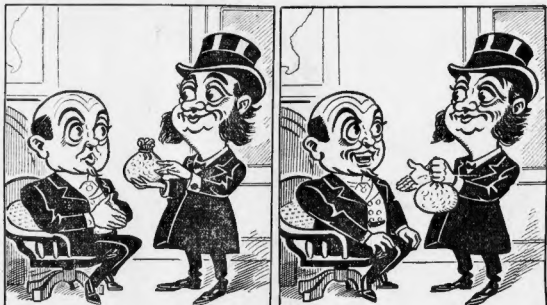

"What's that 'guffling'? What d'you say, Miss Ojus? It's my baby! Etel!—you, who came and took my poor pettunee. And he's sunk away into the snowdrift, why did I ever have a child—the little—well, devil, that's just what they are!"

"There, there, baby-boy! Mo—mo—I'll have you put in a minute and won't she warm up your legs and sister when they get home?"

We are never so happy or so unhappy as we suppose.—LA ROCHEFOUCAULD.

MR. E. Z.—Fortunately I can do so, Mr. Mark. There you are—five hundred dollar gold piece.

Love on the Line

By James J. Montague

(The Telephone Company says the bad service is due to the fact that all the girls are engaged to be married.)

HEREIN, in frantic impatience you take down the 'phone. And wait, full of rancor and impatient ire. That buzzing you hear is the alluring tones of Love's leader accents abroad on the wire. And there's nothing to say, when a voice sweet and low, in a cadence whose measure is measured to stall you, comes murmuring after an hour or so: "Your number is busy just now. Shall I call you?"

Know, then, that it's vain to get mad or complain. To jerry the service, to sear or to scold; To impress a maiden who knows not of you. For you won't get your number till Cupid rings off!

DO you think that the fact that you want nineteen-two, And, failing to get it, grow more and sorer, Impress a maiden who knows not of you? But lista to sweat nothing from some fond adorer? Do you fancy your ravings, though frenzied and wild, Your threats, be they never so horridly scary, Disturb a fair creature whose ears are beguiled By all the delights of the same old, sweet story?

Then try not to get in a fume and a fret! At Manic or Magic or Love or Lazine; When Love's on the line, for yours or for mine, There's always one answer, "The line is busy!"

Life-Saving Stations

By Charles Fleischer

(RABBI TEMPLE ADATH ISRAEL)

THE Salvation Army has renegate than enjoy a long debate, wit, doted much valuable social you on one side and yourself on the other, on the theme "To be or not to be" and to that which other be."

By that method you are likely to come to Hamlet's decision that "To be or not to be" is a question of the mind * * * to bear London. And now a similar one has the illa you have" than cowardly to try from them.

I have not meant herewith to mock the denance of deep human concerns. On the one for hand service, but they are also calculated to save craft in danger corner of wreckage.

The vessels are precious human lives to be saved from going down in the ocean of humanity—persons seemingly incapable of holding their heads above water.

We have all read with great interest, though perhaps with an amused sympathy, of the Salvation Army's latest venture in their Anti-Bulldoze campaign.

If you have grown weary of living, of the friends save life, which will serve to restore self-confidence and at the same time save life and soul.

Perhaps, when next the Anti-Bulldoze impulse comes, you will follow Hamlet's method and so imagine more fully.

In the full clutch of circumstance, I have read of a man who, after the breakdown of a career, had a sudden change of heart. It matters not how straight the path, For every path leads to the goal. I am the master of my fate. I am the captain of my soul.
